Marla Allan

Vice President, Human Resources

Marla brings more than 10 years of senior leadership experience in human resources. Her diverse background ranges from mid-sized organizations to Fortune 500 companies in the retail, financial, technology and healthcare sectors in both Canada and the United States of America.

Some of her notable past accomplishments include designing associate retention strategies that result in measurable improvement, significantly reducing annualized recruitment costs and building high performance HR teams. She also has a wealth of experience in collaborating with senior leaders to restructure organizations and teams, resulting in improved customer service.

Marla's high energy and enthusiasm serve her well in the role of Vice President, Human Resources as she provides organizational consulting on people strategies, development, talent management and labour relations in alignment with Grand & Toy's strategic business objectives.

Marla has a proven ability to identify opportunities in people, processes and leadership. She is also known for impacting business performance by establishing meaningful metrics.
